In TWC, we have a heart for pioneering and exploration. Many years ago, we adopted a couple of Graham's phrases as lightning strike statements for what it looks like to enter new territory.

"A compass and a kiss" This statement includes the promise and blessing of moving forward into exploration. It is a phrase that means we have a directional device (in the compass) that is magnetized to God, Jesus and Holy Spirit. It points to where He stands as He leads us. His magnetism turns the dial of that compass toward Him and allows us to take steps into discoveries and possibilities we find in Him. Through Him we discover promises that are and are to come. The kiss is the blessing from those who have created the foundation, walked alongside and now launch us with great anticipation and celebration for all that is coming in the road ahead.

"You have a Green Light" This phrase includes permission granted to step into our next phase of development. This includes the exploration of "What is possible?" and encourages us to find the unique sound and power of our voice as individuals and as a community.

It includes the legacy we have been given, but also anticipates the legacy we will create and freely offer to others.

It means we have full freedom and permission granted to discover the limitless possibilities available through our passionate pursuit of the Lord.

This last week, my husband and I had the joy of spending time with Graham and Allison at the Brilliant offices. What we thought would be a one-hour visit turned into a six-hour celebration that only ended because we had to catch our flight at LAX.

Graham and Allison are in their element, still discovering what this metamorphosis of Brilliant looks like, identifying and examining the promises they are finding in this season and exploring what this new, more private and behind the scenes season of Graham's ministry looks like.

Continued...

For years, we have partnered with Graham in prayer, asking the Lord to create a way for him to “get off the road” and find new ways to pour into Kingdom. God’s opened the creative process and Graham is now in a place where this is truly possible. As he and Allison shared about Brilliant and what is going on, it was with such great excitement and anticipation for all God is doing. Included in their excitement is the joy of knowing the way Graham has done ministry in the past, mainly through with event focused travel, has significantly shifted.

I was so excited to represent each of you as I shared about The Warrior Class and the incredible territory God has opened before us. I shared about the Spirit of Unity and the Facebook Live call along with the vast number of new training materials we have in development for our Warrior Community, tapping into the creativity God is opening up.

We talked about how the development and process of Champion Training opened doors we are just now discovering, shifted mindsets in inexplicable ways and added more strength to our community as we discovered the value of our One voice and One team focus.

We explored how God has brought additional creative aspects to our new variety of leadership roles and how the developmental opportunities continue to expand in Warrior Class as a whole.

We went on to talk about the Intel innovation we are exploring. We talked about the process of applying what we have learned in the Intel training ground (through our years of praying for Graham) to others in the Kingdom and the grateful hearts of those we have already encountered, who treasure the possibilities Intel brings.

Even though we are in the initial phases of this new Intel process, Graham’s and Allison’s eyes lit up as we discussed what we are finding and how God is opening these doors. As Graham has shifted in how ministry looks for him and as Allison is now full time at Brilliant, our Intel also undergoes a transformation. What they see in these beginning phases, as we tap into the last seven years of training and apply it in new ways, seemed to excite them greatly!

We can encourage Graham and Al as they love the learning and explore in their best Lewis and Clarke by celebrating our own learning process. As we embrace the joy of our journey into who we are and are becoming, Graham shared that we are considered valued friends to Brilliant and, specifically to him, Theresa and Allison.

We continue to train and gain much from the resources they have developed. After all, our Kingdom DNA carries forward the gems in these resources and what they imparted to us along the way. As they receive Frontline and hear about TWC in various ways, they will get to celebrate our discoveries along the way.

We have been given the compass, kiss and green light to build on the solid foundation we have and look to the future promises.

God has spoken over us. We know some promises, but we have many more to discover.

This, my friends, is just the beginning of our journey in this new book! What waits ahead comes through our intentionality to find the unknown territories we can only imagine. We get to discover, explore, take ground and hold it, knowing we will carry forward legacy of our foundation while creating a legacy of our own to pass to the Kingdom generations to come. The light is green. Let’s go for it!

Director Day!

As always, it was such an amazing opportunity spending time with Christine and Karleigh. We spent quality time together in prayer, planning and brainstorming. We all have such passion for our members in TWC! We are unlike any ministry I've ever known.

People ask me what keeps my passion alive for TWC, after pondering the question, it's truly the Lord's heartbeat for us, what He has to say about who we are becoming and His plan for us intrigues me... that alone keeps me focused on the beauty of who He is for us.
- Teresa

It is always a joy to get together with fellow warriors face-to-face! It creates this even deeper connection for which I am thankful. Christine, Teresa and I were able to meet for a second time this year (what a treat) and seek God's heart for TWC. Our time was such a beautiful medley. We worshiped, laughed, went deep in prophetic intel and enjoyed down time together. I love how each of us come with unique wirings, gifting, and perspectives. It makes our time so neat as we each carry an aspect God desires. Together we are better. Together we each carried a piece God wanted. Together we were so thankful for each one of you and what you bring within our community. You all are truly amazing and it is a joy to walk this journey together! - Karleigh

---

We are in such an exciting time in The Warrior Class. With so many new possibilities, Teresa, Karleigh and I took some time to connect face to face. With so much happening in TWC, this was our second time this year to come together at my house and talk through what God is doing.

We started our meeting before we met, by gathering the prophetic Intel we have collected from you and through our own prayer times with the Lord. Before any conversations about TWC, we began with thanksgiving, worship, prayer and soaking. We wanted the Lord to set the atmosphere. We prayed together, prayed our crafted prayer and celebrated.

We pushed aside the operations and details of our community that first day, instead, opening our hearts to the prophetic and tapping into the dreams God opens about The Warrior Class.

We hope to align first with His heart for TWC before holding any discussions about it. After all, we are on the same journey as everyone in our community...one of growth, development, loving the learning and embracing the process of our growth. We merge our individual journeys, challenges, and the continual process of being stretched with everyone in our community.

We have such a passion for The Warrior Class and have so much fun seeing the transformation each of us experience through training and development. We know of no other place where the typical conversations are focused on so much shift, change, delight, encouragement and joy!

These times together are precious. They are even more valuable because we love process and find such joy in seeing TWC be and become. We have just stepped into this new book and the chapters are being written along the journey.

We thank you for your prayers. In fact, we covet them. We know we cannot do this in our own strength and, frankly, don't want to. It is through our reliance on the Lord and Him moving through each of you that we draw together and unify under One heart and One voice.

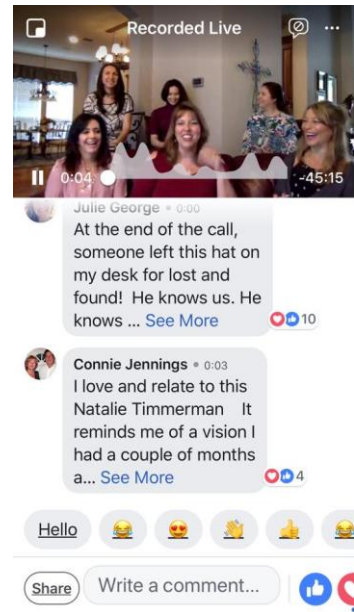

Thank you for joining your voices to ours. Together we are developing a sound that will freely give, create and bring life.

Facebook Live Unity Call

Our Facebook Live call was a blast! We had a majority of our community get on the call with us live! This is the first time we have had such a large percentage of us all together in the “same” room.

It was amazing to see your comments fly by as we talked, prayed and shared more about this next training year. Who knew we would have so much fun!

As I think back on it, there was so much depth to what was released. We had a lot to share, coming off of our Director meeting and so much to anticipate with what is coming in this new training year.

The comments didn’t stop when the live call ended. You continued to share more about the visions and impressions you had during our call. The conversations ran on and the fun continued! What a party!

Now we consider...what could be next? How can we continue to tap into our FB live experience and have another opportunity for us to connect, pray together and unify our voices? This is only the beginning.

Thank you to all who joined the call. We loved seeing your comments. Thank you to everyone who listened to the video.... I am sure some of you hit it multiple times!

The video recording is still on our wall. If you haven’t seen it or want to view it again, you can find it on our wall. Of course, you can listen again, pray and explore the more God continues to reveal through it. We have only touched the tip of the iceberg of all that is possible.

Our Identity, Our Voice, His Purpose

The way we approach Intel is very different than what most understand intercession to be. Intercession is such an integral part of our community. It is the ground we train on because it is so rich. It is an aspect of our DNA. It is a lifestyle we learn to establish and continue to grow in as warriors. It is our area of breakthrough for true transformation because we are aligning with God's will here on earth - His Kingdom purposes.

Within The Warrior Class, we go through various trainings and we learn and unlearn many things about God's nature and ourselves.

Since much of what we do is steeped in acceleration, sometimes we don't even know all God has deposited until He opens up opportunities for it to flow out. I have found myself surprised at times at what has come out of my mouth or my words that come together for evidences of transformation or my actions that are so different than in the past. I marvel at His wondrous ways of developing us!

I have found my voice seems different. It is like there is this new undertone and strength to it after I have gone through a training. It is evident my relationship with the Lord has deepened and my identity was further established.

Intel opens a space to lend our collective prophetic voices to Kingdom purposes. Because of our training, it carries a sound like I have never known before in intercession. There is a weight to it. I can feel the power packed nature it brings to establish revival in others and been a recipient of it as I apply it in my own life.

As intercessors and warriors, we look for Majesty. We pursue the deeper chambers of His heart in Intel and have Him lead us out to carry it to the world and glorify Him. We get bathed in His glory and given an opportunity to give as freely as we have been given to. Truly, becoming an agent and activator of His love and goodness here on the earth. That's kingdom! That's Intel in operation.

- Karleigh

Welcoming New Members

Chapter 1 - Mindset 3

“The Unexpected Is to Be Expected”

We had a wonderful call Saturday with Warriors who were mining what the unexpected looked like in their lives. We all shared what that looked like and we all realized as Allison says, “We rarely know where our path will deviate from what we’ve planned, but we look forward to finding out – because it’s the twists and turns of life that hold some of our best opportunities for laughter and learning.”

All of us were on paths that we would not have necessarily chosen. I loved how everyone talked about how the Lord spoke to them. Some were in prayer, song, pictures, sun brightness, clouds, being in the moment in heart and spirit, and music.

We talked of the upgrades and challenges we overcame with the Lord as we explored the treasure of where He has us. Some of the upgrades shared were a deeper level of peace, His faithfulness and practicing His presence, coming into alignment, seeing God work in every situation, turning trials into blessings, focusing on one revelation at a time, more of His presence, rest, asking Jesus for more with permission granted, and being a rocket launched.

As Allison so beautifully put it, “On this journey it doesn’t matter if the twists and turns are known or unknown. Every day will end the same as it began: full of grace, full of possibilities, and full of promise. The only real expectancy that we ever need to have is the joy of knowing that tomorrow we will encounter God in His grace and goodness once again.”

As the call ended, I felt we were all bonding together as Warriors, supporting one another, cheering each other on.

We will be exploring this same topic on August 11th at 8:00 am PST.

Coaching in TWC – A New Year!

By Sharon Rudolph
Lead Coach for TWC

A new Training Year begins with a new level of joyful expectations of expansion and exploration, and the Warrior Class Coaches are joining in expanding as well. Coaching in TWC is a reflection of all areas of TWC where each person, on their own journey with God, steps into service and then when their commitment is up, may step out.

I love how Jesus models for us living a life of service, always keeping His focus on the Kingdom Assignment.

In TWC, we also keep a focus on the kingdom assignment for each individual member, for each individual coach or leader, and for TWC collectively. Freedom and unity are in the foundation of all that we do as leaders in TWC with a clear understanding of the provision God gives to maintain alignment with God's purpose and timeframe for each assignment. Each coach has wonderful stories of their own upgrades and development as well as how God has shown up with majesty and goodness just when these were needed most.

Our TWC coaches, those returning and those brand new, are stepping into new territory as Champions clearing the way to help our Warrior Class members for the 2018-2019 Training Year. What a joy for us to be purposefully engaged with Warrior Class members as they grow and develop, as they draw deeper into the Lord, and as they learn how to live off the map! Within TWC, these coaches are here to help each member in his or her process. As this year moves forward, the TWC community will have more training calls to enjoy with new voices and perspectives from which to learn, all in alignment with Warrior Class values and principles. Members will have encouraging Kingdom focused undergirders eager to help with every question or request for support that comes in. Be encouraged to make the most of this amazing coaching team.

Onward and Upward for the Kingdom!

Our Weapons of Warfare

Weapons of Warfare begins with my Call on the 'Sword of the Spirit – the Power of God's Promise'. It got me thinking about other types of 'Swords! 'What other Swords?' (I hear y'all thinking).

How about the Sword of Rest? This is comprised of the Sword of God's Goodness where we learn to trust in God's Goodness. The Sword of our Inner Child, where we run to Papa for protection and security. Then the Sword of Forgiveness freeing us from past wounds, and finally the Sword of Identity, how we are known in heaven. Wow! That surely is a powerful set of weapons!

What about the Sword of the Fruit of the Spirit? This is a veritable arsenal on its own! Yesterday I prayed with a friend who was struggling with her weight, so I suggested that she needed to make the choice to partner with Holy Spirit in exercising Self Control. I made up a picture for her with a woman holding a sword in readiness for battle and underneath pictures of all the good things she can eat. That way she has an aide memoire so that when she is tempted by cakes, biscuits, chocolate and ice cream, she only has to look at the picture to strengthen her determination not to be tempted!

Then there is the Sword of Worship. Singing Scripture is a powerful way to renew our mind and to remind us Who God is for us. As we sing and declare the glory of God, our circumstances fade into insignificance and the Truth sets us free!

What about the Sword of the Spirit's Kiss? The Hebrew word for 'kiss' is nashaq, a homonym that can also mean 'to arm for battle', and 'to be equipped for war'. Don't think of Jesus kissing you on the mouth; rather, think of God awakening your heart with His power and love. A Spirit-kiss comes each time we open our hearts to the Word of God and draw close to Jesus.

And we thought we were undefended? Maybe it is time to think again!

Connie Jennings
Champions Training Coach

Our NEW Training Year Begins!

I'm excited to journey together in our Champions Training for many reasons....

I'm blessed to partner with Kathy Brown as one of the coaches. She is an amazing person, a blessing, very relational, as well as a wise and loving coach.

I'm excited for the new applicants because I know the amazing things the Father has in store for them! Kathy and I got to experience wonderful things through our journey in the first round of Champions Training last year. The focused training is excellent, intentional, and designed to draw out the Champion in each of us. It is meant to challenge, strengthen, and encourage us to go higher and farther, as we climb new heights, take new territory and learn to hold onto it.

I loved Champions Training! There were so many upgrades for me last year in my relationship with God, in my perspective, and in who I have become. The most precious thing I received from my training was a deeper and more abiding relationship and experience with:

Father, His Love, His Heart and His Kind Intentions for me. (I'm learning to be a good receiver of all He has for me).

Jesus, my King and Champion Warrior, Who defends, protects and fights victoriously for me. (He does all the work, I just get to stay put in Him).

Holy Spirit, Who has become my Best Friend, Partner, Teacher, Counselor, Coach, Guide, etc. (I pretty much just follow His lead and He gives me whatever I need).

There were challenges in my training... revealing weak points and opening up opportunities for growth and something better. I experienced wonderful visions, revelations, breakthroughs and new identity statements. I had lots of opportunities to take what I was learning for a spin. I felt different, looked different, saw things differently and received way more than I ever imagined I would after going through Champions Training. I began to emerge into the Champion the Father has always seen me to be.

I'm very excited to journey together and see what God has in store for all of us! He is AMAZING... always doing New, Beautiful and Creative things!

Warrior Guidebooks

With the vast resource archive and training tools we have on The Warrior Class website, it is easy to miss some of the more practical pieces we have to support you. One of those resources is found in the Teams, Warrior Class “One Team, One Voice,” Warrior Guidebook tabs.

The guidebook has been recently updated! It contains a lot of practical information you may be curious to know. It offers you the latest perspective of our current training year and is updated as we get ready for each new year.

As we update the copy of the guidebook, we include information on website access and the most current gmail connections you might want to use.

What other things does the guidebook cover?

On pages 5 and 6 you can find out....

What about your questions about coaches? What is the role of a coach in TWC and what do they provide...or not provide for your training?

What do you want to know about conference calls? Do you know the difference between a training call and an Engagement call? Or what exactly is a Connections Ambassador and how does that role in TWC work?

How about one of our newest phrases...What does “Get Your Brave ON” mean and how is it a part of my training development?

Maybe you are curious about our Facebook pages. What are they and how many do we have available? Are there any pages you can share with your friends? Check out the information on page 7 for more.

You may also want to know more about Intercession in TWC. We have several pages that give you more understanding and explain more about this precious and powerful part of our community.

One of the greatest helps starts on page 10. It covers how we communicate and gives you all of the emails and details you may need to know about the e-addresses you may want to connect through.

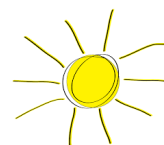

Print it out.

With all the changes we have seen and all the new things we have coming, this guidebook helps you understand how we are structured and a bit more about how our amazing TWC really works.

MEMBER SPOTLIGHT

Susie Marvin

ABOUT ME:

My name is Susie Marvin. I have been in TWC since mid-2015 and I finished my Level 1 near the end of 2017. My husband and I are retired and we live near the southern Oregon coast.

For over 40 years I didn't realize that I was a performance-oriented Christian. I am deeply grateful that God connected me with Graham and TWC. My mind is now being renewed to see that everything is His gracious gift, from Him and about Him.

ON BECOMING THE BELOVED:

I am delighted that I will never fully comprehend Jesus' love and what it means to be The Beloved. Before, I tried to be a good person so I could feel better about myself. Becoming the Beloved means that I can feel good about myself in the present because of Their deep affection for me. Because I am The Beloved, I am also becoming like Jesus, The Beloved. I get to explore with Papa, Jesus, and Holy Spirit what that means for me and others.

WHAT PART OF GOD'S NATURE ARE YOU DISCOVERING?

Since the beginning, I have been deeply grateful for God continually revealing how much He understands me and loves me. The part of God's Nature that I am discovering is His Majesty, that He is More than everything. He keeps reminding me that my life is now about who He is. My mind is being renewed and I am being freed to align with His thinking and perceptions. This is an amazing process and I am beginning to relax into the realization that what I interpreted as my lack is actually opportunity for His Majesty - limitless possibilities.

IDENTITY STATEMENTS:

I am The Beloved who delights in and responds to the Godhead's deep affection for me.

I am a New Creature in Christ who abides and thrives in newness of life in Christ.

I am God's fruitful, fragrant, beautiful, nourishing, garden.

I am God's smile.

I care for the comfortable, warm and welcoming home environment God has provided.

I partner with Holy Spirit in the job description of paraclete – encourager, comforter, and one who calls us near to God.

I speak God's words in His loving, joyful ways.

I enjoy people and I am a game changer and an atmosphere changer.

I am a joyful and thankful worshipping warrior.

I abide in the favor of His Majesty.
